(a) No person shall solicit or accept any contribution, gift, payment, subscription, loan, forgiveness of loans, advance, deposit, pledge or promise of payment of money, or anything of material value other than personal professional or nonprofessional services rendered, performed or offered by an individual on a purely voluntary basis, in aid of the nomination or election of a candidate that will cause the total amount contributed by the contributing person with respect to a single election in support of such candidate to exceed five hundred dollars. "Person," for the purposes of this section, includes individuals, corporations, partnerships, foundations, political, religious or social organizations, committees, or associations.

(b) For the purposes of this section a husband or wife shall each be allowed the right to contribute up to five hundred dollars regardless of the separate or community property nature of the source of the contribution. Each validly formed legal entity shall also have the right to contribute up to five hundred dollars, notwithstanding the fact that any individual partner, member, or shareholder may have also contributed in an individual capacity. (Ord. 1506 § 2, 2015)
