ADDENDUM G
–Optional–
Government Compensation
(Including Salary, Stipends, Bonuses, Payments to Deferred Compensation Plans and Defined Benefit Pensions and Bonuses)

Completion of this form is optional. However, when this Form 700 was adopted by the FPPC, legislation was being considered to address reporting of governmental income.

Please refer to Reference Pamphlet, page 3 for compensation reporting periods.

Other Compensation:
Include the following:

- Stipends (e.g., payment for meeting attendance)
- Incentive payments (e.g., bonuses, payment for unused sick days, payment for health care incentives)
- Loans for mortgages or home improvements
- If your agency provides you a loan list the interest rate, if any, and terms.
- Agency paid contributions to your deferred compensation or defined benefit plan
- Automobile allowances
- Telecommunication allowances
- Agency payments to an individual that are in excess of the standard benefits that the agency offers for all other employees. For example, moving expenses, preferential parking, educational loans.

This list is not inclusive; call the FPPC for guidance on other forms of compensation which may be reportable.

Do not include the following:

- Agency payments for health, dental, life insurance that are provided to all agency employees based on standard classifications such as years of service or union contracts
- Travel payments for agency related business
- Governmental pension payments
- Agency payments for social security

FAQs

Q: I serve as a city council member and also serve on two county boards. Should I list each of the agencies separately?
A: Yes.

Q: As a state retiree, should I disclose my state pension if I currently receive income for serving on a county board?
A: No. Only identify the county’s payment for your services.

Q: My spouse is a governmental employee. Must I disclose that income?
A: No.

Q: Last year my agency contributed $1,000 per month to a deferred compensation plan. How do I report this on my annual statement?
A: Mark the box $10,001-$25,000. Do not include the total fund balance.

Q: Last year my agency’s payment to my retirement fund (e.g. CalPERS, CalSTRS) was $25,000. Do I report this amount?
A: Yes, under Other Compensation.

Q: How do I determine the deferred compensation amount if I only receive an annual statement and my reporting period is not for a calendar year?
A: Use your best estimate. The fund’s staff may be able to assist you. Also check your end of the year pay stub.

Q: My agency provided me with an automobile allowance of $5,000, $4,000 for unused sick days, and $500 for a telecommunication allowance. Which box do I check?
A: Mark the box $7,5001 - $10,000.
